

CATALOGUE 2022

HEPCO & BECKER

OUR COVER PICTURE THIS YEAR – THE REGION AND THE STORY BEHIND IT

It looks so simple: a motorcycle, a model, a landscape – and the cover photo for our catalogue is ready. Our cover this year proves that this is not always the case. It was not until late autumn that our Ducati Multistrada V4 was fully equipped and ready for the shoot. An appealing photo as a lead story was hardly feasible back home. So what to do?

With Hans Michael Engelke, we have had an experienced motorcycle journalist at our side for many years, who reliably puts our two-wheelers in a good light – even in the uncomfortable season and then mostly in southern Europe. This year, for example, we took the Multistrada to the charming mountains of Catalonia. Here, location, light and time of day have to be right. In addition to an appealing background, good illumination of the motorcycle is indispensable. After all, we want our accessories to be clearly visible and the details should also be easily recognisable. If the surroundings also make you want to ride your motorcycle, then everything fits together perfectly.

The current cover photo was taken in the hinterland of the Cap de Creus peninsula. With its rugged mountains, it juts up to ten kilometres into the Mediterranean Sea and forms the easternmost point of the Iberian peninsula. Incidentally, this is a fantastic place to ride a motorcycle at any time of year. It is not for nothing that our photographer produced an exciting documentary whilst travelling through Catalonia with the Ducati ready for the journey. To find out more about it and to see the story once it has been published, visit Michael's website at www.engelke.tv.

HEPCO&BECKER - FROM MOTORCYCLISTS - FOR MOTORCYCLISTS!

Your bike, your choice.

The past year has demanded a lot from us. And even this year, not everything is back to normal.

Our new catalogue comes as a pleasant surprise amidst this backdrop. It is no longer just a product catalogue, but has been enhanced with editorial pages about the brand. In it, you will get to know the people behind the scenes. Many interesting questions and answers show how things work at Hepco and Becker, and what is special about us. With this additional background information, many things become explainable and understandable. Let us take you inside our way of thinking and acting. Fairness, trust and customer satisfaction are our top priorities.

We would like to point out another highlight: last year, our new production and storage hall, which was built in accordance with the latest environmental standards, was put into operation. The new photovoltaic system on the hall roof also covers the additional electricity demand. This means that production is climate-neutral during ongoing operations. With the latest production machines, we are able to efficiently manufacture accessories at the highest quality level there.

The additional storage capacity of the high rack serves to ensure delivery reliability, which is excellent even in times of the pandemic.

We are continuing the innovations we made in last year's catalogue this year. Thus, you will find the new motorcycles that will be launched in the course of 2022 on our website. After the new accessories have been developed, they will be published promptly at www.hepco-becker.de along with delivery times and prices.

Don't be afraid to let us know what you need and desire for your model.

We will continue to be at your side as a reliable partner should you have questions or concerns – we are always listening.

Stay in touch and stay healthy!

ENVIRONMENT AND SUSTAINABLE MANAGEMENT

Not just marketing and trend, but a basic attitude

No matter in which country you are travelling: all over the world, the Hepco & Becker brand is understood as an honest promise of durable quality products.

And yet we are down-to-earth and have been rooted in the region since our founding. Social, ecological and economic concerns are weighed against each other and brought into a reasonable relationship. In the future, we will continue to recognise, explore and implement opportunities. We accept the challenge and stand by our responsibility for people and nature.

Sustainability is therefore not just lip service, but the real promise of the longevity of our accessories, also in the development process and worldwide distribution. We also see ourselves as responsible when it comes to development and production.

By using our own solar power, we make an active contribution to avoiding the consumption of valuable resources.

Our production takes place in accordance with recognised environmental standards and the responsible use of resources and materials.

The sustainability and longevity of our products is underlined by our qualified and fast repair service, which has been praised many times. Wherever possible, we try to replace or repair defective components. Nothing is more environmentally friendly than maintaining existing parts.

The production process of our leather and its control are also important factors for us. First and foremost, animal welfare and leather tanning in compliance with European environmental standards.

We also make progress with many small steps. For example, we have reduced CO2 emissions caused by our paper consumption by participating in a climate protection project in Aruba. The possibility of saving is enough to circumnavigate our globe several times by motorcycle.

Hepco&Becker is a globally active, medium-sized company and a major manufacturer of motorcycle accessories with a brand profile. Motorcycles have been upgraded and customised with model-specific products for over 45 years now, and we employ approx. 80 people at our site in Pirmasens.

It is important to us that the people who manufacture our products are paid fairly. Therefore, we demand from our producers and suppliers that they pay their employees appropriately. Respect and decency dictate that people should be able to live from their work and find socially acceptable working conditions. Our employees should not only be able to perform their work safely, but also remain healthy.

Our commitment does not end at the factory gate. It is important for us to be involved in local associations and to provide financial support for children's and youth work.

SOCIAL AND HUMAN RESPONSIBILITY

Driven by an inner sense of duty, we want to help

Children are our future! And yet they often have no lobby, are sometimes neglected in many areas of life. Even in a prosperous country like Germany. The German Child Protection League (DKSB) is committed to changing this.

With its committed work, the DKSB advocates for a child-friendly society in which the spiritual, psychological, social and physical development of children and young people is promoted. This is not only about political work, but also about very practical help and support on the ground.

Here in Pirmasens, the local branch of the Kinderschutzbund has been active since 1978, supporting families with problems of all kinds and has thus already provided support to a huge number of children in need of protection and assistance. Be it a clothes shop, aid or food, healthy lunches help with homework, camps or joint outings – the members of the Pirmasens local group are always there for the youngest members of our society, helping voluntarily and selflessly. We at Hepco & Becker admire this commitment, are happy to help and have supported the work of the local group for many years with a regular, annual donation.

„We are very happy about this!“ emphasises Wolfgang Baumgart from the Kinderschutzbund Pirmasens. „The money goes towards our active daily work. At the moment, we use it to look after around 20 primary school children, among others, provide them with wholesome food and help when it comes to clothing and homework.“

For us at Hepco & Becker, this support is also an investment into the future. As we all know, children are our future and we are very happy to be able to contribute a small part so that these children can also look forward to a healthy and positive future.

INTERVIEW WITH PAUL EHRHARDT SENIOR

Paul Ehrhardt Senior, the company's founder, is still driven to put his ideas into practice.

Initially a lone wolf, he now has a team around him that shares his philosophy and has kept the company on the road to success for 45 years.

Hepco & Becker has been manufacturing accessories for motorcycles for over 45 years. How has Hepco & Becker managed to be successful on the market over all these years?

We always see ourselves in the position of the motorcyclist and develop accessories that improve the original condition of the motorcycle. This is clearly visible in our first successful product, the closed grease chain case in the seventies. At that time, there were already four-cylinder engines, for example the Honda CB 750 Four, but not yet any durable O-ring chains. Since we ourselves rode several Hondas in our circle of friends, we were fed up with the constant chain lubrication and the dirt on the rims and tyres. Out of necessity, we developed the chain case. At that time, we gave a chain runtime guarantee of 60,000 km, which was sensational and was confirmed by test reports in the trade press.

What distinguishes Hepco & Becker as a company? What do you do differently from your competitors?

We have a very special approach to product development that is cost-effective and fast. That's how we always manage to be on the market very quickly with our accessories for the new motorcycles. We also have a very large warehouse, which ensures a generally high readiness to deliver. And our repair service for emergencies is also reliable and excellent.

How do you manage to keep coming up with ideas and constantly develop new products after such a long time?

Going through the world with open eyes means being inspired by developments and ideas, even outside the two-wheeler industry. Add to that our decades of experience, which allows us to constantly identify gaps in the market and opportunities for new products from the motorcyclist's point of view.

Over the years, you have seen a lot in the motorcycle industry. Which development has surprised you the most?

I was amazed that the motorcycle, which for many years was an absolute niche product, partly for social outsiders, has today experienced this broad acceptance. For me, that was not to be expected for a long time. I still remember earlier conversations with banks. Whenever you mentioned you worked in the two-wheeler industry, the „tie-wearing“ gentlemen would turn up their noses.

What current trend in the industry are you rather sceptical about?

The increased environmental responsibility brings us many surprising, often short-term political decisions. One example is the hasty nuclear phase-out. I fear that the motorcycle could become a pawn, because no one really needs it. Realistically, it is only an environmental burden. I hope, of course, that it will not come to that, because man does not live by bread alone, but very much also by feelings and emotions. We can see this today in the time of isolation caused by the coronavirus pandemic.

You are now over seventy! With the construction of the new hall and the expansion of the production facilities, you have once again made a major investment. What was your motivation here?

Due to the long unresolved succession issue, there was a backlog of investments. Thanks to our new building and the new, ultra-modern production facilities, we are able to manufacture large quantities economically and in top quality. To this day, it is a matter close to my heart to manage Hepco & Becker successfully and thus also to preserve the many jobs in our structurally weak area.

You are still on company premises almost every day. Do you ever think about retiring from the business?

My retirement will come, because in life everything has its time. That's why, as long as my creative power allows me, I try to get as much as possible off the ground so that I can hand over a cultivated field to my successors.

You are a passionate motorcyclist. Do you still get enough out of it and which is your „favourite motorcycle“? And why this one in particular?

I have to admit that I haven't ridden a motorcycle that much in recent years. I still ride to some extent, but there's no comparison with earlier times. But I can say that I have ridden several hundred thousand kilometres in my lifetime and have travelled to many distant countries. One particular motorcycle that has grown on me is my rebuilt Honda CB 500 Four. Of course, the new motorcycles are objectively much better, but I still love riding it because it embodies a piece of the glorious past.

INTERVIEW WITH PAUL EHRHARDT JUNIOR

Paul Josef Ehrhardt, son of the company founder, has been another driving force in the company since 2011.

Together with his father, they are the guiding, entrepreneurial decision-making authority.

Was it clear to you from the beginning that you would be on board at Hepco & Becker?

What is your educational background?

Looking back, my educational background is based on that. I was not aware of this at the respective stage of my career path. Initially, it was not my goal to continue my father's life's work. My parents gave me every freedom and did not push me in any direction. I am very grateful for this. Over time, I realised that I definitely wanted to do something varied, concrete and challenging.

After primary school, I initially attended a regional school, although I was not prevented from going to a grammar school. It was a conscious decision, as local proximity and my enjoyment were important to me.

This was followed by my Abitur at a business grammar school. Afterwards I did an apprenticeship as a tool mechanic, deliberately not in my father's company, which I still benefit from today. At that time I was still unsure about a course of study, but then decided on a cooperative, practice-oriented degree in industrial engineering. Here I was able to deepen and expand knowledge I had already acquired. What's more, I had a lot of fun doing it. I then joined Hepco&Becker as a management assistant.

Do you and your father have a clear division of responsibilities or do you tend to approach tasks and decisions together?

A clear division of responsibilities for our daily tasks is enormously important. It's good that we have a shared office, so you get a good idea of what is going on in the background.

For many years, my father was firmly at the helm. We are currently undergoing a transition phase. The challenge is to gradually hand over tasks and be able to transfer responsibilities. When it comes to overriding issues, we always coordinate as a team, including with the senior staff.

What distinguishes a Hepco & Becker product?

Our enthusiasm for motorcycles is unbridled. We develop and produce our products out of this emotion. This passion results in the high, self-imposed standards with regard to the quality, functional design and durability of every Hepco & Becker product. It is important to us that we create products that are directly perceived as a quality product due to their features and also confirm this impression in use. Furthermore, we strive to offer products at a fair price and to deliver them as quickly as possible in the long term.

What makes Hepco & Becker special as a company?

Hepco & Becker has its feet firmly on the ground. We are not growth-oriented, but we like to take on challenges. As an owner-managed company with flat hierarchies, our success is based in particular on the fact that we employ many good, long-term employees. A lot of experience is bundled in them, which flows into the production of our products every day.

What I also find special is that we, as a medium-sized company, manage to offer this product range at this high level of quality. This is only possible thanks to reliable partners and employees who share our philosophy.

Which motorcycle of the last few years sends you into raptures?

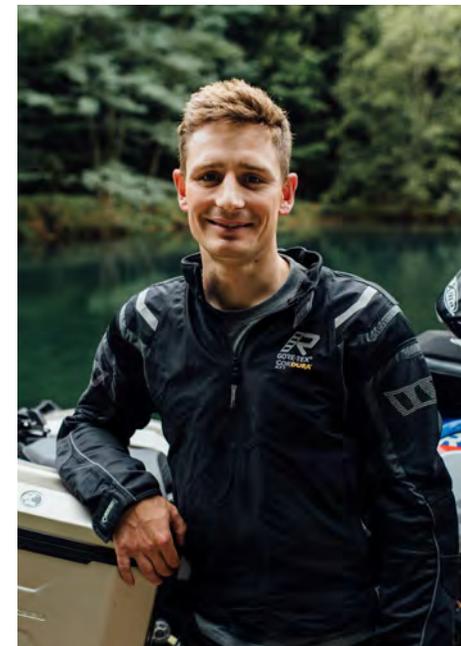

I have been a two-wheeler enthusiast for as long as I can remember. Whether with or without an engine, I am fascinated by the possibility of getting around on two wheels. I believe that especially in our industry, product emotionalisation plays an outstanding role. And I like to be inspired by that. I am not more or less attracted to any one type of motorcycle and think that the variety of models has its raison d'être. Well-known motorcycle manufacturers, for whose models we also offer accessories, also manage to awaken new needs in me time and again due to the diversification of their model range.

On my father's side, the Honda brand arouses emotions, because it all started with a Honda CB750. I'm a big fan of the new Honda CMX1100 Rebel. The Japanese concept and the price-performance ratio convince me.

What can we expect from Hepco & Becker in the future in terms of new products?

The design and development process of our products never stands still. We still have a few surprises up our sleeve for the current year in our „soft luggage“. In addition, model-specific product development, for example protective parts or luggage carrier solutions, hardly leave us a moment's peace. The challenge is to do justice to the vehicle design and at the same time to the high utility value as fixed variables of a development.

SMALL SERIES PRODUCTION BY HAND

Hepco&Becker also stands for timelessly designed products that match the era of the respective motorcycles. The ability to supply exclusive small series is more important to us today than ever before. It also carries the idea of a sustainable corporate philosophy if motorcycles and accessories are kept alive and valued over all these years. Therefore, with our Hepco & Becker Classic products, we still offer luggage carriers for old and young alike even after more than 45 years. This requires know-how and a great deal of knowledge on the part of our employees, who realise this small-series production at today's increased level of quality with expert craftsmanship. The experience of each employee is reflected in the final product. The raw materials are also processed conventionally, as workshop production. In this way, customer-specific special orders can also be realised with great attention to detail.

SINCE 1975

MACHINED, MORE INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION

Thanks to the new hall construction in 2021, the possibility for a new, state-of-the-art production line was created. In a section of the new premises, production now takes place on the most modern machines in the industry.

It is only the combination of skilled workers and highly efficient machines that bring a product on its way that is worthy of customer requirements and areas of application all over the world. Completely made in Germany, thanks also to German suppliers of the raw materials, articles of daily use with high demands on design are produced.

Tube blanks for luggage racks, protective bars, etc. are first pre-cut to the correct contour by a partially automated tube laser, before they fall onto the conveyor belt for further processing every second. The tubes are then bent into shape on the tube bending machine, free of burrs and true to size. Before they are welded on the new KUGA welding robot with 2-cabin equipment.

The high fitting accuracy of the add-on parts is very important and is ensured by the new advanced production. The use of additional inspection gauges in the subsequent quality control, which precedes the surface finishing, makes this dimensional accuracy possible even in larger production series.

Thanks to these investments, the production of tube bending parts at this level of quality is also guaranteed for the future global demand for model-specific motorcycle accessories.

INTERVIEW WITH NILS ARNOLD

Nils Arnold has been with the company since 2011 and is the contact person for technology at Hepco & Becker. As part of the team, he heads the development department and is therefore largely responsible for new products.

Who decides and what criteria are used to decide which product is developed for which motorcycle at your company?

Basically, we try to make decisions as a team, because each of us has different strengths and can contribute a lot of experience. Another important indicator for us is the motorcycle market or the vehicle manufacturers, who are always bringing new, very interesting models onto the market, for which we can of course offer luggage solutions and protective equipment.

There is a clear motto for us: „Yesterday’s customer is and will remain our customer of tomorrow!“ That is why we partly also develop products for niche vehicles and exotics or concentrate on special requests of individual customers. Due to our handcrafted manufacture, we also always manage to economically produce small and very small series that we can offer to our customers. In addition, due to growing globalisation, we have many national importers worldwide, with some of whom we have a long-standing, cooperative partnership. We always work very closely together and regularly exchange information.

A new motorcycle model arrives at your company for which you want to develop a crash bar. How long does it usually take until it is developed and after how long can the customer buy it online or in the shop? Please describe the development process.

There are four to six weeks between the idea and the finished product. In this time, we usually manage the development and can deliver series parts to the customer.

As soon as a motorcycle is on the lifting platform in our development workshop, we start right away! We are a well-coordinated team of mechanics and designers who work hand in hand. Together, we discuss design and execution, and then the practitioners begin to expose the attachment points on the motorcycle, determine fastening materials such as screws and sleeves, and already set up the production machines. In the meantime, the CAD system is used to create the first designs of folded steel lugs, which are produced and screwed on as prototypes on our machines. The supreme discipline is steel tube bending! This requires a lot of experience, because based on the design idea, we program the machines for this freely by hand. This is followed by documentation and the careful creation of assembly instructions. Finally comes the specification of the determined data of this prototype as well as the production of the welding and testing gauges that are needed for series production. Last but not least, we create professional pictures in our in-house photo studio, which are used for the subsequent presentation in our online shop and catalogue.

This entire development process takes no more than two days, which we believe is an unparalleled speed. Functional and practical tests are not included here and always follow afterwards.

What is particularly important to you when developing new products?

That varies greatly and of course depends on the product in question. Since we are all motorcyclists ourselves and are on the road a lot, we can incorporate our own experiences. First and foremost, there is always the practical use and functionality, as well as the question of whether we would also bolt it to our own motorcycle. We do not develop products that we are not convinced of ourselves!

The high and constantly growing quality demands of our customers as well as our competition also spur us on to develop creative ideas for new products and to remain innovative.

For which accessories do your customers actually need a general type approval (ABE)? Do you always supply them, if necessary, and how time-consuming is it for you as a manufacturer to obtain an ABE?

An ABE is only necessary for our main stands, which we of course also supply. For other products, such as a pannier rack or a luggage rack, there are EU directives and regulations that we have to comply with. In addition, our processes are subject to constant quality control, for which we are certified as a manufacturer.

After a main stand has been developed, it is tested by TÜV and the technical documents are compiled. Then the application for the ABE is submitted to the Federal Motor Transport Authority in Flensburg, which then issues it and assigns a corresponding number. With this ABE, the customer has the advantage over the parts certificate that no additional entry in the vehicle documents is required and thus also saves costs.

How, if at all, has product development changed at your company in recent years – keyword digitalisation?

Some say „standing still is going backwards“ and we here in the Palatinate say „cobble, stick to your last“. I think it’s the right mix that makes the difference. There are processes and procedures that develop and become entrenched over time. With the multitude of our constant product developments, we need precisely this continuity in order to be able to cope at all. Of course, we use modern techniques such as CAD systems, document and digitalise much more than before and invest in modern production machines again and again. This makes us very efficient; we work at a high level of quality and we can produce economically.

But we also know that a system always depends on the respective user. That’s why we value our many good and reliable employees.

Do you test your products yourselves in the long run? Do you get regular feedback from your customers?

Yes, we test our products ourselves and have also developed and defined internal test standards for this purpose, which make it possible to simulate the results of years of continuous use in a very short time. In addition, we have a very extensive fleet of fully equipped vehicles that we drive ourselves or make available to our test drivers, neutral editors and recently also our influencers.

Customer feedback is very important to us and is also taken seriously. If there are problems with a product or the customer has questions, we help quickly and without complications. This is also regularly confirmed to us. It's not for nothing that we have always been voted „Best Brand“ by the readers of MOTORRAD magazine in recent years.

In addition to functionality, the appearance of a product is also important. For example, who creates the design of a new set of side bags and who makes the decision on how the bags will ultimately look?

When designing suitcases and bags, the look is very important. If the customer doesn't like the look, they won't look at the functions at all. That's why we have been working in this area for many decades with professional designers who know their way around the motorcycle industry and, even more importantly, know how to implement a functional design. For us, this has been true ever since the first case – the Junior – we create originals! We've had this case in our range for almost 40 years now and it still looks great on both classic and modern motorcycles. With such a product life cycle, the term sustainability takes on a whole new meaning!

Which product from the H&B range would you buy yourself and why?

That's a difficult question, because every development also involves creativity and attention to detail on your part. Personally, I particularly like the two bag collections Xtravel and Legacy, because for me they combine motorcycling, utility and lifestyle. When it comes to metal parts, I think the Sportrack and C-Bow products are ingenious. In my opinion, the Sportrack is often underestimated. Handling is child's play – remove the pillion seat, click in the Sportrack, done – and we have a wide range of accessories such as rear bags with Lock-it system or belt solutions, extensions for luggage rolls or even mounting plates for top cases.

You deal professionally with the entire range of different motorcycle types. What do you ride „privately“ and why exactly this motorcycle? A decent motorcycle should have a kick starter! I came into contact with motorcycling at a very early age through my stepfather. He took me to his motocross races and I was always allowed to help tighten up all the nuts and bolts. The smell of burnt 2-stroke mixture and the sound at the start of a race when the start board turns to 5 seconds fascinate me to this day. Without further ado, he got me a Honda QR50, on which my first riding attempts took place. The nice thing is that the little Honda is still in the family and will soon be passed on to my child. Over the course of time, the entire Honda MX model range followed, up to the Honda CRF 250R. Yes, I know, a 4-stroke, you get more sensible with age. Even if there is a little less time for this great hobby because of the job and the family, this love has nevertheless remained.

HISTORY OF THE COMPANY

Hepco&Becker, a name that guarantees quality and stands for service for motorcycles. The one-man operation was founded in 1973 by engineer Franz Becker, who was involved in a fatal motorcycle accident in 1975. The business was continued and developed into a medium-sized company by young student Paul Ehrhardt. Its production in the early days involved essential metal parts.

1984 marked the takeover of hard-shell case production by Hepting & Co. from Stuttgart Feuerbach and the foundation of Hepco&Becker GmbH as the continuation of Franz Becker GmbH. Hepting was once one of the largest suitcase manufacturers with more than one thousand employees in Germany. In the seventies and the beginning of the eighties, Hepting manufactured thousands of motorcycle cases for BMW and Krauser.

Thanks to in-house case production, Hepco&Becker successfully provided new, attractive products and assumed a leading role on the market. Whilst a number of competitors have disappeared, Hepco&Becker has managed to remain successful to this day. The rhino became a key concept for the Hepco&Becker brand.

It represents independence and robustness, power and durability, just like every item that comes out of the Hepco&Becker establishment. The rhino has high loyalty values for many motorcyclists as it is not so easy to dissuade thanks to a certain stubbornness. Sustainability and reliability are, to this day, values which shape and define day-to-day business at Hepco&Becker.

THE COMPANY TODAY

Hepco&Becker is a globally active, medium-sized company and a major manufacturer of motorcycle accessories with a brand profile. Customers from over 60 countries appreciate the quality and variety of the Hepco&Becker product range. Regardless of in which country you are travelling:

The Hepco&Becker brand is renowned for its genuine pledge to provide long-lasting and quality accessories. Hepco&Becker has grown sustainably since its founding, and combines traditional model diversity with innovative, high-quality products “Made in Germany”. Components and carrier systems for over 1,000 motorbike models have been produced over the years. Small series of products can even be produced for classic and newer models. We can also manage specific requests from customers.

All our employees are motivated with a passion for bikes, based on their crucial, individual role in the company.

Our commitment is to ensure employment in the region, sustain eco-friendly production and to conduct respectful working relationships. Future-oriented investments are made in training young people who will benefit from the vast experience of our long-term employees. We implement a flat, hierarchical corporate structure and ongoing employee training to also serve the personal and professional development of each individual.

This is how we encourage an innovative spirit and the creativity to develop new products. This creative power forms the basis to expand our product range. At the same time, we strive to meet the high demands in terms of quality and products of our customers. Hepco&Becker is your “one-stop shop”. This enables optimal networking between individual departments.

A production/warehouse area, with a surface area of 1800 square metres will enable us to invest in the most modern tube processing machines and welding technology.

Our logistics and warehouse management departments also need extra capacity for the thousands of items.

INTERVIEW WITH MATHIAS DZEMSKI

Mathias Dzemski has been with the company since 2011 and is now responsible for all sales activities. Whether at home or abroad, Mathias and his team ensure that Hepco & Becker articles are available worldwide.

What specifically is your job at Hepco & Becker? What do you do?

I am responsible for the distribution of our products at home and abroad and lead the sales team, which is divided according to regions.

How do you manage to supply motorcyclists worldwide with your products?

In Germany and Austria, this works via the specialist motorcycle and accessories trade and our own online shop. There, customers can choose the articles they are interested in and order them right away.

Outside of these two countries, we work with importers in more than 70 countries who supply our products to the local specialist dealers or directly to the end customers. Most of our importers also have their own online shop and also have the most common parts in stock or order them if they do not have something in stock. The delivery times are usually very short and the customers can therefore always be supplied with our products as quickly as possible and also have a regional contact person.

What do you think is the reason why your accessories are appreciated by so many motorcyclists worldwide?

On the one hand, it's because Hepco & Becker has been on the market for over 45 years and customers already know the brand or have seen or read about it somewhere. Be it through acquaintances or the many tests with excellent results in motorcycle magazines. On the other hand, it's also because our products are always changing and there is always something new. In addition, we offer something for pretty much every model. That's why our customers keep coming back to us. Well, and of course also because of the proven quality of our products.

Are your customers' expectations of your products the same all over the world?

The expectations regarding the quality of workmanship and the accuracy of fit are very high worldwide, regardless of the country. That's a good thing! It's not for nothing that we have a very high standard ourselves and of course we always want to live up to it. Our customers regularly confirm that we manage to do so.

Are there certain articles that sell particularly well in certain countries?

The demand for our products varies greatly from country to country; even within Europe, there are big differences between the countries. Tastes are quite different. In South America and Australia, for example, the trend is clearly more towards enduro tours, while in Spain, France and Italy, for example, cafe racers have a large share.

How do you ensure that your customers all over the world always feel well looked after following their purchase?

This is largely ensured by our country-specific importers, who continue to be there for all customers even after their purchase. Communication in their own language is important for many customers. But customers often make contact with us directly in Pirmasens. For us, it is a matter of personal pride to ensure that we always help them as best we can.

Your website and your online shop are quite extensive. Is it accessible to all customers worldwide or does it „only“ run offline in some countries?

The shop is accessible to all customers, but only customers from Germany, Austria and countries where we don't have an importer can place an order directly. All others can add products to their basket and send it to us with the click of a mouse button. We then forward it as an email to the respective importer, who then contacts the customer directly.

You ride a motorcycle yourself. Do you have your own motorcycle or do you prefer to use the Hepco & Becker fleet? With which motorcycle would you most like to visit a distant importer?

That's right! In this line of business, it's an advantage to be able to put yourself in the customers' shoes and know what they're talking about and what they want. At the moment I use the Hepco & Becker fleet. Unfortunately, sometimes I ride a little less than I would like, because time is almost always of the essence.

There are simply too many places to go. The best thing would be to go around the world on a motorcycle, as every country has its own charms and we have excellent relationships with all our importers.

INTERVIEW WITH DANIEL OLIVEIRA

Daniel Oliveira is the company's mouthpiece to the outside world. Whether end customer or dealer, everyone finds an open ear with him. The multilingual communication talent embodies the values and philosophy of the Hepco & Becker brand at all times out of his inner conviction.

Daniel, what are your tasks at Hepco&Becker?
My tasks at Hepco & Becker are very diverse. In addition to the video productions, I support the German-speaking dealers, take their orders and help them with questions. I also always have an open ear for the concerns of private end customers. I am very happy to advise interested parties who would like to find out more about our range of products for their motorcycles at our factory outlet. The organisation and implementation of trade fair events and training courses is also part of my job. All in all, a very exciting and varied job.

How, when and why did you become part of the Hepco & Becker team?

I joined the team in January 2019. I have been working in the motorcycle industry since 2015. During a factory tour together with my trainees from my former employer, I immediately felt at home at Hepco & Becker. Both the team and the products convinced me right from the start, so when I got home I immediately applied for a job. And here I am ...

Where does your enthusiasm for motorcycles come from?

I have been interested in motorised two-wheelers since I was a child. My father was not entirely innocent, because for as long as I can remember, there were motorcycle magazines in my parents' house for me to read and marvel at. By the time my father's first motorcycle found its way into our garage, I was hooked. Of course, that's why I've been riding since I was 18 and enjoy the freedom of being on a beautiful country road. The sound of a motorcycle fascinates me to this day and I always catch myself turning my head to look when a two-wheeler passes me by.

In your videos, you are literally brimming with excitement for your products. What do you think makes Hepco & Becker products so outstanding?

My first motorcycle, which I bought second-hand, had a luggage system from Hepco & Becker. It's now over 30 years old and still works perfectly today! I still have the bike and the luggage rack. It is precisely this lasting quality that inspires me. Ever since I started working at Hepco & Becker, I see for myself how much passion goes into developing, producing and selling these products. And all this in Germany, in our beautiful Southwest Palatinate!

Do you also receive direct feedback from your customers regarding your videos? How do you react to it?

Of course, our customers also react to our videos. They ask questions about solutions for their machine or express wishes about the content of new videos. Our end customer team and I are of course happy to answer these questions and respond to requests. We contact them in writing or by telephone.

You have a few „treasures“ in your garage yourself. What are they and which motorcycle are you still missing in your collection?

My first motorcycle was a Suzuki GN 250, as already mentioned, including a complete carrier and case from Hepco & Becker. I never wanted to sell it, so it's still lying dormant in my garage waiting to be restored. I also have a Ducati Scrambler 800 Icon and a ,95 Ducati 750 SS, which are ready to ride. I just love the sound of the two-cylinder! For the city and for fetching bread, I have a lovingly restored ,72 Simson Schwalbe. What I'm really missing is a touring enduro for longer trips.

The unmistakable appearance paired with the experience of more than 40 years of manufacturing motorcycle cases are the basis of this new unique case. The black version of the Xceed is powder-coated. The combination of high-quality aluminium and impact-resistant plastic creates an elegant, timeless case that is light and handy.

With great attention to detail, the design takes up contemporary forms and lines. This distinguishes it from other aluminium cases. No matter on which motorbike - this case is worth seeing.

XPLORER CUTOUT SET

Set of cases and side carrier - high volume - less width - more value

Xplorer Cutout

This exclusive set for assorted models consists of a model specific stainless steel side carrier and two Xplorer aluminum cases. Due to its recessed 37 liter Xplorer case on one side the case is close to the bike.

On the other side is a special 40 liter Xplorer case. With this combination the width is reduced and the bike looks symmetrical from the back. It does not interfere with the stability of the bike due to the center of gravity being so close. The cases are made of shock resistant plastic molding and anodized aluminum sheets. The black version is powder coated additionally.

The side carrier is made of 2mm strong stainless steel pipe with 16mm in diameter. The surface is electro polished. The system is light and stable, perfectly for offroad use.

Tool Box

The robust, completely waterproof toolbox, made from shock-resistant plastic, excellently complements the side case carrying system, and is ideally connected between the side case and the back of the bike. By fixing it on the opposite side to the muffler, the empty space is used in the best possible way and it creates additional storage room. With a length of 29cm and a width of 8cm, both tools and replacement parts can be accommodated whilst saving space. The toolbox has a quick-open screw top. The universal version can be attached in other positions too.

ALU STANDARD

For everyday use and extreme situations

With the Alu Standard collection, we have created models that also stand up to extreme conditions with no trouble at all. The 1.5 mm thick, smooth, highly durable aluminum alloy helped give the collection its name.

With their right-angled shape, Alu Standard side cases provide spacious, practical storage space with no protruding corners or edges and are easy to load from above. The foam lid seal keeps the content of the case or top case dry. The different widths side cases can be combined for Enduro bikes.

Especially recommended for side carriers that have different mounting widths due to the high exhaust system position typical of Enduros. The Enduro set can eliminate this asymmetry.

GOBI

The answer to every question

If you want to go on new trails, you have to leave the old paths. After 25 years of motorcycle case development and production, the GOBI is the answer to every question. The goal was to create a real alternative to the ordinary aluminum case. And with the GOBI series, we've succeeded! If an aluminum case drops, it usually gets damaged. That reduces its functionality. The GOBI is made of highly impact-resistant plastic, colored through and through. Its special shell is extremely resistant and watertight, and it absorbs shocks and unintentional contact with the ground. GOBI gets its stiffness and stability from its double-wall construction. This also allows over 3.5 quarts of liquid to be stowed in each side compartment.

ORBIT SIDE CASE

Be different

Following the „Be different“ motto, we have created an innovative product for the motorcycle industry with the new Orbit side case.

A striking accomplishment at first glance, furthered with closer inspection, one can notice its distinct design cues. The Orbit side case is the perfect choice whether you have to run an errand or take a weekend trip. The case differentiates itself from other side cases due to the modern look. The All-In-One design concept combines a lid and retainer lock which makes handling very easy and allows to the contents to be locked safely.

The Orbit SC must be combined with the C-Bow carrier for your specific bike. Without the cases, the C-Bow Holder remains unobtrusive on the bike maintaining the look. Obligatory at Hepco & Becker: 100% waterproof!

The elegant classic with a high-quality appearance

A classic of the highest quality! These elegant retro bags hark back to the leather suitcases of generations past. The Strayker case is not made of leather, but of high-resistance, watertight soft-feel material with a leather look that holds its shape excellently. With its color-contrasting corner applications made of enameled plastic, it is a true highlight for any roadster and a real alternative to hard-shell cases. Off the bike, it also looks great as an everyday briefcase. It has plenty of space for A4 folders or a laptop.

ROYSTER NEO

Design taken to the next level

As a visual highlight among the side panniers, it impresses with its independent, striking and fresh design. It is made of robust and resistant EVA material, which gives the Royster Neo bag its dimensional stability. The front is covered with abrasion-resistant polyester 1200D. The back panel is coated with polyurethane in „Diamond Shape Optics“. This increases the dirt resistance and makes cleaning easier.

Its light weight makes the bag very handy and allows it to be carried easily thanks to a functional handle. Water-repellent on the outside, the contents are protected by an additional, waterproof and removable inner pocket. The volume can be increased by 1.5 litres thanks to the all-round zip.

The inside of the bag is locked with a sophisticated combination lock. The C-Bow holder ensures theft-proof mounting on the motorbike.

STREET

The bag with understatement

The redesigned STREET softbags for our HEP&B C-Bow side carriers not only look good, but they are sturdy and the contents are easily accessible. We gave the bag a minor facelift in 2020, but rest assured: different design, same quality!

Not too bulky, but the compartment capacity is definitely roomy enough for a weekend trip. The bags can withstand a brief shower, while the waterproof inner pockets will keep the contents dry during longer downpours.

Our system with the C-Bow carrier has a decisive advantage over the conventional fastening with straps under the seat: the theft-proof and secure attachment with a locking mechanism on the C-Bow carrier. No slipping, no hanging down; they retain their great shape.

Made from robust and tear-resistant polyester fabric. The back panel is reinforced with PU, resistant to dirt and water-repellent.

The contents are protected with an additional, waterproof inner lining.

This rear bag is ideal for rear racks or the pillion seat! Made of the same material as the side bags, the rear bag is also made of the water-repellent outer material. The inner lining is made of waterproof polyester and can be closed with a roll-top closure. The rear bag can be converted quickly into a backpack, which will make it especially practical for the daily use. Whether during a city stroll or a trekking tour, the bag can also be used besides the motorcycle. For „frequent packers“ a volume increase was integrated by an all-round zipper, whereby the stowage possibility increases on 30 L.

LOCK IT TANKRING - FIDLOCK PATENTED

Innovative tank bag attachment

The Hepco & Becker tank ring for fastening tank bags is a big advance for attaching tank bags to the motorcycle. The problems associated with positioning the tank bag are eliminated by magnetic centering. The side ribs attached to the magnets also mechanically secure the tank bag. When the lock is released, the poles of the magnets match and the tank bag is released from the attachment.

The tank bag's base plate shields the magnetic field of the tank ring's two permanent magnets, so that credit cards and electronic devices cannot be damaged. Simple and effective for more than 200 models; can be attached to the original fuel cap.

NOTICE FOR LEATHER BAGS

Leather bags are available in different versions and equipment. To help you choose, we present the possibilities here.

HOME INSTALLATION

Leather bag for leather bag holder – standard with holding clamps

Designed for home installation with a fastening set for attachment to the bag holder (leather bags cannot be removed). This requires holes to be drilled in the back wall of the leather bag.

NOTE: The leather bag matches only the bag holder it is attached to. Once the holding clamps are installed, a leather bag can no longer be changed.

FACTORY INSTALLATION

Leather bag for leather bag holder-optional with quick lock installed at the factory

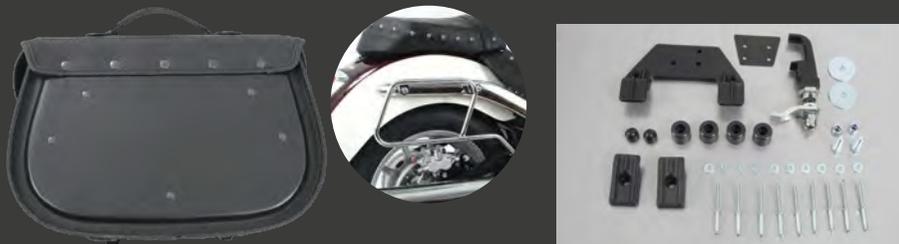

Another option when using a bag holder is our factory-installed quick lock. It allows the leather bag to be removed from the bag holder at any time. The lock also locks inside the bag to deter theft. The leather bag and bag holder are ordered together and installed in pairs.

NOTE: The leather bag matches only the bag holder it is attached to. Once the quick locks are installed, a leather bag can no longer be changed.

Quick lock, factory fitted
Item-no. 700402

Leather bag for leather bag holder – optional with quick lock

Another option when using a bag holder is our quick lock at additional charge for home assembly. This allows the leather bag to be removed from the bag holder at any time. Moreover, the lock works from inside the bag, securing the bag from theft. Home installation is very complex.

NOTE: The leather bag matches only the bag holder it is attached to. Once the quick locks are installed, a leather bag can no longer be changed.

Quick lock, for self-assembly
Item-no. 700403

C-Bow leather bags for C-Bow holder

We recommend the leather bag's C-Bow version (if a C-Bow leather bag holder is offered for your motorcycle). This requires no home installation and switching the model to a different motorcycle with C-Bow is no problem.

LOCK-IT SYSTEM SIDE CARRIER

The functional side carrier

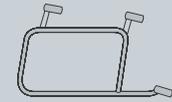

BMW R 1250 GS

Outstanding fit – every carrier is adapted precisely to the motorcycle model. This means that the carrier fits the motorcycle exactly. During design, all model-specific characteristics are considered, such as the helmet and seat lock, turn signals, exhaust pipe height, etc. Manufactured from steel tube, which is reinforced with a special inner tube at heavily strained places. A special feature of the Lock-It side carrier is the ability to remove them in seconds.

- Removal in seconds with Lock-It screws
- Theft deterrence available with Lock-It lock

SIDE AND COMPLETE CARRIER FIRMLY BOLTED

The sturdy side carrier

This type of side racks are firmly bolted to the motorcycle. Especially for Enduro-models, this is often the better choice compared to removable carrier systems when used in rough terrain.

A special form of the case carriers are the complete carrier, consisting of a side-mounted case carrier and a rear rack as a possible top case carrier. Both can only be mounted together.

Common to all versions is the solid construction made of precision steel tube, which is reinforced with a special inner tube at highly stressed areas.

EASYRACK

The support plate with foldable bracket for top case mounting

SUZUKI V-Strom 1000 ABS

Easyracks are specially design as a carrier for our top cases while looking sleek and sporty even when riding without a top case. Even sitting on the motorcycle is easier when you can fold the bracket down. Every Easyrack is developed for the specific model and fits beautifully into the motorcycle's overall look. Production from premium aluminum gives the rack great strength and an elegant look. The rack design integrates additional luggage with belt fastening points for attaching luggage rolls, etc.

LOCK-IT TANKRING - FIDLOCK PATENTED

Innovative tank bag attachment

Underside of a tank bag with matching counterpart to the tank ring

The Hepco & Becker tank ring for fastening tank bags is a big advance for attaching tank bags to the motorcycle. The problems associated with positioning the tank bag are eliminated by magnetic centering. The side ribs attached to the magnets also mechanically secure the tank bag. When the lock is released, the poles of the magnets match and the tank bag is released from the attachment. The tank bag's base plate shields the magnetic field of the tank ring's two permanent magnets, so that credit cards and electronic devices cannot be damaged.

For the Royster rear bag Lock-it and the Street tail bag for sport racks, this tail bag holder is within the scope of delivery.

UNIVERSAL TOP CASE FASTENING

Secure attachment for top cases

Your motorcycle may already have a rear rack. If that is the case, why not mount a Hepco & Becker top case? There are universal mounts for those wanting this solution.

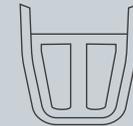

INFO

You have the following three options:

1. H&B Top case models including universal pallet: Due to the boring pattern, this enables mounting on existing rack constructions of the manufacturer. Pallet and mounting material are included in the kit. The following topcases are available as a universal version: Journey TC 30/40/50 as well as the Orbit TC 54.
2. Universal Alu/Easyrack or Rear rack tube type construction: universal solution for carrying every Hepco&Becker top case. These products must be mounted on existing base carriers.
3. An assembly of a universal rack is not possible: Then you will certainly find a specific solution in our model list.

SPORTTRACK

Carrier system for Soft Luggage

The problem of luggage transport on sporty motorcycles with short rear ends is well known: How and where can the luggage be reliably secured?

Hepco&Becker has the right solution for this: the Sportrack. This is simply clipped into place instead of the passenger seat and is therefore securely anchored by using the original motorcycle key. The seat bench can be exchanged for the Sportrack without any tools if necessary. A further advantage: The baggage is placed directly behind the driver in a streamlined and centre-of-centre-optimised position.

TRIUMPH Tiger 900 RALLY / GT / PRO

MOTO GUZZI V85

HONDA NC 750 X

Whether you ride more on rugged terrain, on country roads or in town, a Hepco & Becker guard is always the right choice. Your motorcycle is always effectively protected against an unexpected mishap. And even more: If the bike falls over or makes unintentional contact with the ground, it can protect both bike and rider from more serious consequences.

Hepco & Becker protection bars follow the lines of the bike perfectly, giving it a customized appearance. Made with extremely stable tube-in-tube construction. In addition, a protection bar is always a sensible purchase to avoid cost-intensive repairs, such as the replacement of fairing parts or motor housings. YAMAHA MT-09

Whether you spend most of your time riding over difficult terrain, on country roads or along city streets; a crash bar from Hepco&Becker is always the right choice. Your motorcycle will have effective protection against unexpected mishaps at all times.

But more than that: In the event of a fall or unintentional contact with the ground, you can protect the motorcycle and the rider from serious damage. The crash bars are equipped with a shock-absorbing element with additional protection pads that can absorb energy to minimise damage. The load is also eased on the support and screw connection of the structure. In this specific version, a protection pad is integrated on each side to provide additional protection.

Further information, see page 96

With passion and commitment, we took on the challenge of stainless steel and fully mastered it.

Our stainless steel series offers you more ways to upgrade your motorcycle with Hepco & Becker products. Those who love stainless steel will make a great find among our cross-brand offerings, and will get a high-quality, very durable premium product. When it comes to protecting a motorcycle, stainless steel products have obvious advantages.

The blasted, electropolished surface ensures a visually and technically excellent finish, and makes the guard more resistant to rust. Your bike has an upgraded design, look and feel, and it is protected against damage to the fairing or engine. From an ecological point of view, stainless steel is much more environmentally friendly than other common materials, such as aluminum or carbon, and is even 100% recyclable.

FRONT-/REAR PROTECTION BARS

For complete all-round protection

BMW F 900 R

YAMAHA MT-03

For selected motorcycle models of the 125 to 850 class, which are frequently used in driving schools, we offer protection bars which protect the front or rear of the motorcycle. The protection bars offer good protection against falling even at low speeds and can be combined with the model-specific Hepco&Becker engine and tank guards. Depending on the motorcycle model, these are available in the coating colours black or anthracite. Very good stiffness values of the stirrups are achieved by increased wall thicknesses and the pipe-in-pipe construction.

- Provides protection in case of accidents and falls

SPECIAL NOTES

For leather bag holder tube type only.

Leather bag for leather bag holder – standard with holding clamp for home installation

Designed for home installation with a fastening set for attachment to the bag holder (leather bags cannot be removed). This requires holes to be drilled in the back wall of the leather bag.

Leather bag for leather bag holder – optional with quick lock for home installation

Another option when using a bag holder is our quick lock at additional charge for home assembly. This allows the leather bag to be removed from the bag holder at any time. Moreover, the lock works from inside the bag, securing the bag from theft. Home installation is very difficult.

quick lock home installation	700403	piece

Leather bag for leather bag holder - optional with quick lock installed at the factory

Another option when using a bag holder is our factory-installed quick lock. It allows the leather bag to be removed from the bag holder at any time. The lock also locks inside the bag to prevent theft. The leather bag and bag holder have to be ordered together and installed in pairs.

quick lock incl. factory installation	700402	piece
---------------------------------------	--------	-------

NOTE: For all versions, the leather bag matches only the bag holder it is attached to. Once the quick locks are installed, a leather bag can no longer be returned.

C-Bow leather bag for C-Bow leather bag holder

We recommend the leather bag's C-Bow version (if a C-Bow holder is offered for your motorcycle). This requires no home installation and switching the model to a different motorcycle with C-Bow is no problem.
